The future belongs to innovators—and to those leaders who can bring an entrepreneurial mindset to firms both large and small.

At the Batten Institute for Entrepreneurship, Innovation and Technology, our work is fueled by this recognition. Our mission is to serve every Darden student who wants to be on the leading edge. ■

We seek to challenge students to fulfill their creative leadership potential in three ways:

- 1. Advancing Breakthrough Ideas
Translating and amplifying research for students and professionals that articulates the thought-leading Darden perspective on innovation.
- 2. Education In and Out of the Classroom
Providing world-class experiential learning programs that intimately introduce students to disruption—in all its forms and sectors.
- 3. Transforming Ideas into Value
Proactively supporting every aspect of venture creation.

OUR MISSION

Initiatives

Effectual Thinking & Action Initiative

The Effectual Thinking & Action Initiative supports the dissemination of the groundbreaking form of entrepreneurial thinking known as effectuation, developed by Professor Saras Sarasvathy. The Society for Effectual Action (SEA), spearheaded by Sarasvathy, is a global society advancing effectual action for entrepreneurs from all industries.

To learn about symposia, books, articles and networking under the initiative visit: www.effectuation.org

Design Thinking Initiative

Design@Darden aims to enrich the global conversation and application of design thinking to business and society. Built upon the foundational design-thinking research of Professor Jeanne Liedtka, the initiative supports courses, student clubs and experiences, faculty research and outreach through the Design@Darden website, among other venues.

To view books, lectures and papers produced under the initiative visit: www.designatdarden.org

The Intelligence Initiative

Bringing together a diverse, multidisciplinary group of leading scholars, the Intelligence Initiative explores the business opportunities and societal impacts that come with broader adoption of artificial intelligence and other digital technologies. The initiative is a joint project of the Batten Institute and the Institute for Business in Society.

To view an initiative briefing, current research, curriculum offerings, and interviews with faculty working on these topics visit: www.darden.virginia.edu/intelligence

Venture Capital Initiative

The Venture Capital Initiative at Darden, co-hosted with the Richard A. Mayo Center for Asset Management, provides students with a suite of world-class curricular, experiential and professional offerings to support their educational interests and long-term career pursuits in venture capital. Degree program students seeking to establish or enhance their foundational knowledge of the VC industry or gain practical skills and experience through investing and operational roles can take advantage of several curricular and co-curricular programs during their two years at Darden.

www.darden.virginia.edu/venture-capital

New Initiative: Sustainability

The Sustainability Initiative, co-hosted with the Institute for Business in Society, brings together faculty research and engagement opportunities around sustainability topics of interest to business leaders today. The initiative directly supports Darden's 2030 How we Learn goals to expand course and case offerings and identify practical experiences for students interested in sustainability. Through the initiative, the centers will convene stakeholders and support Darden faculty research on critical sustainability issues.

OTHER ENTREPRENEURIAL SCHOLARSHIPS

In addition to direct support from the Batten Institute, other scholarships are awarded by the Darden School for MBAs with outstanding potential in entrepreneurial thinking and pursuits:

William Wooding Sihler Scholarship

Established in 2000 by alumni of the Darden School in recognition of Professor Bill Sihler's dedication to students and learning, up to four Sihler Scholarships will be made without regard to need to candidates accepted for admission to the MBA program whose academic record is above average and who have demonstrated entrepreneurial spirit.

Lee R. Johnston Scholarship

This scholarship was established in 1998 by alumni, faculty and friends of Darden and the family of Professor Lee Johnston. The scholarship honors one of Darden's great professors who served students, executives and fellow faculty members for 33 years. Professor Johnston was a founding faculty member of Darden; the first director of the doctoral program; and a professor of finance, small business and entrepreneurship courses. The scholarship is awarded to Second Year students with a special interest in entrepreneurship.

Kenneth Nahigian Memorial Scholarship

Established in 1981 by Darden alumni, friends and family of Ken Nahigian (MBA '67) as a memorial. Nahigian served as class president at Darden and went on to become a highly successful and promising entrepreneur in real estate investment and management. This scholarship is awarded to a Second Year Darden student who demonstrates outstanding entrepreneurial capabilities and promise of building a business career centering on those capabilities. Where possible, financial need will also be taken into account.

William F. and Joyce A. Richmond Entrepreneurial Leadership Scholarship

This scholarship was established in 2001 by William F. Richmond (MBA '76). The scholarship is awarded to students who have demonstrated academic excellence and an interest in entrepreneurship.

Startup Academy

The academy engages graduate students across the University of Virginia who are actively working to launch or join a new venture. The program introduces key startup concepts such as customer discovery, effectuation, team formation and startup sprints. In 2022–23, Startup Academy was offered as a pre-matriculation virtual program for Darden students in June and August as well as in-person for all students on two dates in September. Beginning in Fall 2023, the academy will be replaced by The Batten Innovation Series.

Learn more at:
www.darden.virginia.edu/batten-institute/education/batten-innovation-series

PhD+ Startup Seminar Series

PhD Plus is a university-wide initiative to prepare doctoral students and postdoctoral scholars across all disciplines for long-term career success. The seminar series is the result of a collaboration between the UVA Office of Graduate and Postdoctoral Affairs and the Darden School of Business Batten Institute, with support from the Office of the Provost.

The purpose of the weekly sessions is to foster a more innovative and entrepreneurial mindset by introducing participants to and engaging them with the challenges faced by innovators and entrepreneurs. The seminar is meant to provide relevant frameworks and skills whether you are pursuing a new research project, starting up a new lab, hoping to commercialize an invention, or simply interested in working at the intersection of science and society.

www.batten.institute/education/startup-seminar

Venturing Projects (X) Independent Studies

Through VP(x), the Batten Institute provides select Darden students with enhanced support for developing ideas for new ventures. Darden students can pursue their own venture through an independent study format.

Student Clubs

Student interest in entrepreneurship, innovation and technology is exploding, and that’s reflected in the wide range of our students’ industry, professional and affinity clubs that undertake activities that support the development of entrepreneurial leaders.

Therefore, we are pleased to provide a variety of financial and logistical assistance to the following Darden clubs for their events and programs in 2022–23:

- Executive MBA Entrepreneurship Club
- Darden Entrepreneurship & Venture Capital Club
- EMBA Venture Capital Club
- Darden Technology Club
- Darden Business Innovation & Design Club
- Darden Net Impact Club
- Darden Energy Club

Competitions

University of Virginia Entrepreneurship Cup

The Batten Institute is a founding member and administrator of the pan-University team that develops and delivers the University of Virginia Entrepreneurship Cup (E-Cup), an annual competition that encourages students from all 12 schools at the University to pursue new ventures. In 2022–23, a total of 267 students participated from across the University.

www.entrepreneurship.virginia.edu/ecup

The E-Cup is a series of events that occur across the academic year, consisting of the following three stages:

Concept Competition:
$25,000 in total awards

Students are encouraged to come up with out-of-the box ideas that could be translated into compelling projects. Competitions are held along four tracks:

- Engineering and Health
- Social Entrepreneurship
- Consumer/Business-to-Business
- UVA-Wise

Discovery Competition:
$25,000 in total awards

Centered on the principles of effectuation with customer and product development, in this second stage of the competition, students demonstrate they have taken steps to “de-risk” their idea.

Launch! Competition:
$45,000 in total awards

In the final phase of competition, students provide evidence of real customer and stakeholder demand and a vision for how the venture could become a sustainable business or nonprofit.

2022–23 Launch! Competition Winners

First Place: College Contact, LLC — Sophie Smith and Leah Guesman, McIntire School of Commerce Class of 2023

Second Place: NewSublease.com — Rooney Lee (MBA '23) and Xinyi Jiang (MBA '23)

Darden Strategic Competition Initiative

The Batten Institute supports student travel to attend strategic competitions in the areas of entrepreneurship and innovation. In 2022–23, the institute sponsored 13 Darden students to attend pitch, investment and sustainability competitions. Student teams were composed of Darden students from the MBA, MSBA, and Part-time MBA programs, and graduate level engineering students from UVA's School of Engineering and Applied Science.

Batten Innovation Grants

Batten Innovation Grants provide direct financial support to student-led, early-stage entrepreneurial projects. Currently enrolled Darden students may apply. Grant funds are used for expenses directly related to developing an entrepreneurial idea or new venture. Each of the three grant levels: Explore ($250), Create ($500) and Innovate ($2,500), is awarded in five annual grant application cycles. Applications for the Create and Innovate grants are reviewed and approved by the student-led Innovation Grants Committee.

Batten Venture Internship Program (BVIP)

This program provides Darden students the opportunity to pursue summer internships with start-ups. In addition, students may choose to work for search funds, recent grads conducting a search or their portfolio companies. Students gain the experience of working for a start-up or closely held enterprise, and the ventures benefit from having access to talented Darden MBA students for the summer. To promote and support student involvement with these firms, Batten provides a matching stipend to supplement a student's summer salary, if the venture meets certain criteria. In the summer of 2023, 18 Darden students were matched with 16 hosts.

i.Lab Incubator

Suited to founders who are at the stage of testing, iterating, and validating solutions to perceived problems, the incubator facilitates accelerated learning and venture growth. The program offers an immersive experience for founders with a passion for addressing problems with meaningful solutions. At a minimum, founders need some version of the solution, or minimum viable product (MVP), to participate.

EXPERIENTIAL EDUCATION

Events

Southeast Entrepreneurship Through Acquisition (SEETA) Conference

The fourth annual Southeast Entrepreneurship Through Acquisition (SEETA) Conference was held in-person at Darden for the first time in September 2022. Co-sponsored by Darden's Batten Institute, Duke's Fuqua School of Business and UNC's Kenan-Flagler Business School, SEETA aims to introduce MBA students to the concept of becoming an owner-operator of a closely-held enterprise through the process of acquiring a small or medium-sized business. The 2022 conference was attended by over 200 students, owner-operators, investors and other industry professionals. Attendees hailed from nine universities including over 50 from Darden's MBA and EMBA programs. www.seetaconference.org

Charlottesville Entrepreneurs and Espresso

The Batten Institute sponsors this popular monthly gathering for local entrepreneurs in which both a seasoned entrepreneur and the founder of a new venture share their experiences over coffee. www.ce2.squarespace.com

Jefferson Innovation Summit 2022: Decarbonizing the Global Economy

In early December 2022, 25 delegates — leaders from business, government, universities, and non-profits — gathered at the University of Virginia's Rotunda to discuss strategies for decarbonizing the global economy. Through a facilitated dialogue and workshop, the delegates identified obstacles to decarbonization and proposed solutions. These insights subsequently formed the foundation of a decarbonization playbook for policymakers that was published in spring 2023. The Summit was sponsored by The Jefferson Trust, and co-hosted by the Batten Institute, the Institute for Business in Society, the Miller Center at UVA and the UVA Environmental Resilience Institute. <https://jeffersoninnovationsummit.org/>

30th Anniversary of the Batten Family Gift

In February 2023, Darden and the Batten Institute held a celebration on the 30th anniversary of Frank Batten Sr.'s transformative gift that created the Batten Center, which later became the Batten Institute for Entrepreneurship, Innovation and Technology. At the event, Darden Dean Scott Beardsley announced the transformation on Darden Grounds in the near future with the creation of the Batten Global Innovation Nexus, new spaces inside Darden's central buildings that will house the institute as well as serve as the central nexus for student success, academic innovation, entrepreneurship and technology at Darden.

Tribute

The Batten Institute wishes to acknowledge the immeasurable contributions of Damon DeVito (MBA '94), whose passing in February 2023 was a seismic loss for our community of aspiring entrepreneurs at UVA. Damon served as adjunct faculty at Darden and instructed a year-round Venture Velocity course but was much more than a teacher; he was an energetic and beloved advisor, mentor and confidant who infused an abiding sense of positivity and possibility in everyone he touched.
